

HOUSE PASSES BONUS AFTER HARDING VETO

Vote Is 258 to 54, or 50 More Than Necessary Two-thirds

TO FAIL IN SENATE?

Prediction Is That Enough Votes Cannot be Obtained In Upper House

(By the Associated Press) Washington, Sept. 20.—The house passed the soldiers' bonus bill today over President Harding's veto. The vote was 258 to 54, or 50 more than the necessary two-thirds majority.

Washington, Sept. 20.—The soldiers' bonus bill, vetoed yesterday by President Harding, was to be started today on a second voyage through congress.

Favorable action by the house was looked for generally, but friends of the measure doubted that they could muster in the senate the two-thirds majority necessary to override the veto. The plan was to call up the bill in the house soon after noon and to have a roll call after an hour or two of debate.

The time of senate action was indefinite. Some favored the final test of strength immediately after the house vote, but others, and these included several of the Republican leaders, counseled delay until tomorrow. It was their view that with the bonus issue disposed of it would be difficult to keep a quorum for action on important matters awaiting decision before adjournment of congress.

In his message to the house President Harding based his veto of the bonus largely on the ground of the failure of congress to provide a method of financing and the consequent heavy drain it would place on the treasury. He made it clear that the interest on the foreign debt could not be relied upon, asserting that even taking into account such payments as were likely to be received from that source the treasury faced a deficit of $850,000,000 this fiscal year and an even further shortage in the succeeding year.

The President declared that enactment of the measure would wipe out the result of the administration's economy program and would entail further borrowings by the treasury, every one of which he added, threatened higher interest and delayed the adjustment of stable government financing and the diminution of federal taxes to the defensible cost of government.

The bonus bill was laid before the senate shortly after 2 o'clock and the President's veto message read to the senate which already had been debating the question for more than an hour.

CALIFORNIA PLAIN RELIEF FOR STRICKEN

(By the Associated Press)

Jackson, Calif., Sept. 20.—While a mine rescue crew continued to bring to the surface bodies of victims of the Argonaut mine disaster, the West today had turned its attention to relieving the plight of families and dependents of the 47 men who died after being imprisoned by fire far down in the gold workings.

Compensation checks and funds realized from prize fight and theatre benefit performances already are beginning to pour in.

Superintendent W. M. Mullen of the claims department of the California Compensation Insurance Fund, has sent checks to ten of the stricken families. He announced that 18 families would receive checks monthly ranging from $69 to $83 for a period of 240 weeks.

A ringside collection at a boxing exhibition in Vernon, Calif., last night netted $800. Word was received that President McCarty of the Pacific Coast baseball league, was considering an all-star baseball contest for the benefit of the Jackson women and children. Benefit shows are to be staged in several California cities, including Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Thirty-eight bodies still remained early today on the 4,350 foot level of the Argonaut. Identification is possible only by means of scars, teeth and other personal characteristics. Rescue officials expressed the hope that all bodies would be out tomorrow.

CONFERRING ON LAKE CONTROL

Ottawa, Sept. 20.—Premier King conferred today with Governor Preuss of Minnesota, and the provincial premiers of Manitoba and Ontario on the vexed question of control of Lake of the Woods.

They called in E. W. Backus, wealthy Minnesota lumber man and member of the dominion cabinet, in an effort to throw out a satisfactory agreement; the international problem which the lake long has offered.

GEORGE SUTHERLAND

Newly Appointed Associate Justice of the U. S. Supreme Court

George Sutherland, newly appointed associate justice of the U. S. Supreme Court, as he is today, with insets of him as a youth, when he was studying law (left) and at the age of 25, when he ran for mayor of Provo, Utah.

PROVO, Utah, Sept. 20.—One Sunday morning, in July, 1872, a 10-year-old boy named George Sutherland, joined his smaller brothers in a trip to the "old swimmin' hole," in Spring Creek, a mile from the Sutherland home in Springville, a little town near here.

The boys had been cleaned up for Sunday school. But they took a plunge instead.

On their return home, later, they met a younger sister, Fannie. And it was then that George Sutherland won his case.

Sister Fannie acted as judge, jury and prosecuting witness, and after listening to the touching plea put up by George for himself and his brothers, she returned a verdict stipulating that Mother Sutherland was never to hear of the swimming affair.

This same George Sutherland has recently been appointed associate justice of the United States Supreme Court, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of John N. Clarke, effective Sept. 18.

All Proud of George

TO RUSH CARS TO NORTHWEST

Effort to be Made to Fill Demand, Milhollan Wires

Every effort will be made by the Interstate Commerce Commission to assure an adequate supply of cars for North Dakota during the fall and early winter to haul grain, according to a telegram received at the office of the state railroad commission from Commissioner Frank Milhollan, in Washington as North Dakota's representative on a public utilities' commission committee.

"Box car supply entire country insufficient. Receive assurance every effort would be made to relieve northwest. Movement coal lower lakes improving. One millions dumped last week. Expect equivalent this week. Boat situation good. Supply of coal cars inadequate."

"Situation is such that closest cooperation all agencies necessary in securing sufficient supply, also distribution."

SOUTH DAKOTA CAMPAIGN OPENS

Huron, S. D., Sept. 20.—Opening guns in the pre-election campaign in South Dakota will be fired within the next few days by gubernatorial candidates of the Republican and Democratic parties.

The first of the heavy artillery will open at Reliance on Saturday of this week, when Governor W. H. McMaster, a candidate for re-election, speaks. L. N. (Bill) Democratic candidate, will begin his campaign in earnest on Monday in an address at Tyndall.

BOY ELECTROCUTED

(By the Associated Press) Pine River, Minn., Sept. 20.—Henry Lindberg, 16 years old, was electrocuted here last night when he touched a live wire. He was the son of P. E. Lindberg, a local merchant.

Springville from Buckinghamshire, England, when George, the oldest child of the family, was about a year and a half old.

After finishing the grade schools, George, at the age of 12, went to Salt Lake City and worked as a clerk in a clothing store. In the meantime the family had moved to Silver City where the father was postmaster and recorder.

George soon returned home and induced a telegraph operator in Silver City to teach him arithmetic and other studies.

At the age of 17 he entered the Brigham Young Academy, now University, of Provo. There he worked his way through school by keeping books for several grocery stores.

Ran for Mayor

Some time later, Sutherland's father, who had been studying law in his leisure time, moved his family to Provo where he opened a law office. He encouraged George to study law.

When Sutherland was 25 years old he ran for mayor of Provo. At that time the tickets in the field were the Liberal and the Peoples, and George headed the former. He was defeated by a small margin.

Shortly afterward he moved to Salt Lake City, where he opened an office which he has maintained in the intervals of his public career.

Since that time he has been continually before the public both in the state and nationally, as a lawyer and a lawmaker in the State Legislature and in the United States Senate.

Second Night of Pageant Celebrating Bridge Completion Given in Mandan

ACTORS ARE APPLAUDED

City of Mandan Decorated For Celebration—Pageant Last Time Tonight

The second performance of the historical pageant which is the feature of the three-day celebration of the completion of the new Missouri river bridge was staged at Mandan last night before an audience of more than several thousand people, which greeted the actors in the big cut-door drama frequently with applause. The pageant will be repeated at the Mandan fair grounds tonight, the third and last performance.

People streamed through the fair ground gates for two hours and kept coming long after the pageant had started. The attendance at the pageant Monday night in Bismarck and last night at Mandan exceeded all expectations. The joint committee in Bismarck and the hasty addition of chauntauquo seats on the race track yesterday helped solve the problem. Even with this added preparation and admirable handling the crowd was so large that there were some raucous cries of "sit down" by people whose vision was obscured by others anxious to see. Tonight the Missouri Slope queen will be crowned, and citizens of Mandan and Bismarck both are urged to be present to pay her tribute.

JEWELL SAYS RAIL HEADS CAUSED STRIKE

In Affidavit Hints at Union Wrecking Conspiracy on Part of Roads

(By the Associated Press) Chicago, Sept. 20.—With counter charges of a union wrecking conspiracy of railway executives injected into the proceedings by the defense, hearing on the government's rail strike injunction continued before Judge James Wilkerson today with only two days remaining to finish testimony and complete arguments before the temporary restraining order expires tomorrow night.

The charge of a conspiracy to destroy the railroad unions was made in an affidavit by B. M. Jewell, head of the shop organizations, in answer to charges by Attorney General Daugherty that the rail strike was a conspiracy against interstate commerce.

The Jewell affidavit was read by his attorney, Donald R. Richberg, who today continued the defense attack on the Daugherty injunction bill. Mr. Richberg indicated that he would consume the entire day with his counter charges and argument.

In his affidavit Mr. Jewell laid the blame for the strike at the door of the association of railway executives. Twenty-five rail heads linked together in the operation of 99 class one roads with a trackage of 211,895 miles or 82 percent of the country's entire mileage, were specifically mentioned as responsible for conditions leading to the strike.

The tax commissioner, in the third attempt to assess the property, uses as a basis of apportionment the ratio which the business of the railroad companies within the state bears to their total business within and without the state. It is this method of apportionment which the railroads now are attacking.

C. C. Converse, state tax commissioner; John Steen, state treasurer; D. C. Poindester, state auditor; Sveinbjorn Johnson, attorney general, and Thomas Hall, secretary of state, are named as defendants in the action which is brought by James C. Davis, director general of railroads; the Northern Pacific Railroad company; Great Northern Railway company; Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad company; Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie Railway company and Montana Eastern Railway company.

Washington, Sept. 20.—The administration tariff bill was made ready today for President Harding who was expected to complete its enactment into law within a few days.

Immediately after the adoption of the conference report late yesterday by the senate, 43 to 28, the bill was sent on its way to be engrossed and with the completion of that work this forenoon it was to be signed by Speaker Gillette and Senator (unlabeled), Republican, Iowa, President pro tempore of the Senate.

AMIDON CALLS U. S. GRAND JURY

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 20.—Judge Charles F. Amidon of the United States district court yesterday ordered the federal grand jury to convene in Fargo Tuesday, October 2, at 10 a. m. The marshal's office is now serving summons on the jurors.

It was said that it is expected the jury will be able to complete its work in about two days. Many liquor violation cases will come up for investigation.

A term of federal court will open at Minot, October 10, according to Colonel M. A. Hildebreth, United States district attorney.

"HOUSE OF MYSTERY" FIGURES IN MURDER OF REV. HALL AND MRS. MILLS LEADER OF CHOR IN RECTOR'S CHURCH

News Brunswick, N. J., Sept. 20.—The inquiry into the killing last week of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall, rector of the church of St. John the Evangelist, and his choir leader, Mrs. Eleanor Reinhardt Mills, wife of the church sexton, was centered today in investigating a theory that an abandoned farm house near the spot where the bodies were found Saturday night have been used by the slain couple as a trysting place.

Prosecuting officers of Somerset and Middlesex counties, whose grand juries yesterday began a formal inquiry into the double killing were expected also to cause the arrest of one person on a short warrant charging suspicion of murder. No intimation was given as to the identity of the person to be arrested.

Authorities were reticent to discuss their theories about the house, known for some time as the "House of mystery," and which has been found to be completely furnished, at least on one tenant has occupied it for some time. It was known that its present ownership was being investigated and that detectives have searched it carefully in an effort to unravel the mystery of the double shooting.

Authorities have felt all along that Mr. Hall and Mrs. Mills were not killed at the spot under an apple tree where the bodies were found. Unable thus far to determine the scene of the killing, they have given close scrutiny to every clue looking to a solution of that phase of the mystery.

The discovery of a pistol was the outstanding accomplishment yesterday. It was not disclosed whether the authorities believe they have found the weapon with which the two were slain. They announced merely that it was pertinent to the case.

RAILROADS IN A NEW ATTACK ON EXCISE TAX

Hold That Basis Used by State for Assessing Them Is Illegal Method

MAKES THIRD FIGHT

Railroads Victorious in Two Previous Suits to Prevent Enforcement of Law

Railroads operating in North Dakota have again begun an attack upon the excise, or capital stock, tax, filing suit in the federal district court at Fargo in the name of the railroads and James C. Davis, director-general of railroads, seeking a permanent restraining order from the court to prevent the collection of the tax under the law enacted by the legislature in 1919.

The railroads have twice taken the case through the courts and have been victorious. The state tax commissioner devising a different method of arriving at value of the property of the roads in North Dakota after the first adverse decision in the United States supreme court.

The first assessment was based upon a valuation of the North Dakota property upon the ratio which the mileage within the state bears to the total mileage of the roads. The railroads held this apportionment was incorrect on the ground that the railroad mileage was not an accurate index of the amount of investment within the state, the investment per mile differing in various states. The second assessment was on an apportionment of the road's North Dakota property on a basis of the ratio which the property of the corporation within the state bore to the entire property employed in the road's business. The railroads also successfully attacked this basis. The railroads held the statute prescribing the mileage basis of apportionment and that the legislature exceeded its power in prescribing an arbitrary method of apportionment, which did not accurately reflect the true apportionment. The second method could not be adopted by the tax commissioner because of the legislative provision, they held.

The tax commissioner, in the third attempt to assess the property, uses as a basis of apportionment the ratio which the business of the railroad companies within the state bears to their total business within and without the state. It is this method of apportionment which the railroads now are attacking.

C. C. Converse, state tax commissioner; John Steen, state treasurer; D. C. Poindester, state auditor; Sveinbjorn Johnson, attorney general, and Thomas Hall, secretary of state, are named as defendants in the action which is brought by James C. Davis, director general of railroads; the Northern Pacific Railroad company; Great Northern Railway company; Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad company; Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. POSSE TAKES SECOND MAN

(By the Associated Press)

International Falls, Minn., Sept. 20.—Joe Nigro, alias Nagle, who had been sought by a posse in connection with the fatal shooting of one police officer and the wounding of another Monday night, was captured early today near Eritsburg, 10 miles South of here.

Joe Bushon, who fled with Nigro after the shooting of the officers during an attempt to arrest Nigro on a robbery charge, was killed yesterday near here when he sought to evade the posse which had surrounded him.

Nigro was brought to the sheriff's office here where he will be questioned. Sheriff Hugh Van Etton, one of the officers shot Monday night, was slightly injured today. Patrolman Wilbur McKee, the other officer shot, died yesterday.

Want to Move Sitting Bull's Body From Fort Yates

Pierre, S. D., Sept. 20.—Intimate glimpses into the life of Sitting Bull are being brought to light through an exchange of communications on the questions of removing the remains of the famous Indian from the military cemetery at Fort Yates, N. D., to some point on the Grande river.

Fears have been expressed by relatives of persons killed on the occasion of Sitting Bull's death, as well as some Indians among the famous Sioux Chief's feudal enemies, that Sitting Bull is being elevated to heights of too great prominence in American memories, according to Charles H. Burke, commissioner of Indian affairs.

On the other hand, Mr. Doane Robinson, state historian of South Dakota, said Sitting Bull's Indian enemies hated him because he, a low caste Indian, had elevated himself to a prominence which his higher caste neighbors could not attain.

TAMPER WITH BRIDGE PLATES

One of Them Is Found off Liberty Memorial Bridge

Someone has been tampering with the bronze name plates on the new North Dakota Liberty Memorial bridge. C. S. Diehl, in charge of the structure for the Foundation company, divulged that some days ago one of the large plates, about three feet square, was found on the ground, the person taking the plate off apparently having been frightened before disposing of it. Later it was found that two bolts had been removed from another plate in an attempt to take it off.

No explanation is divulged for the action, unless there was objection on the part of the mercantile as to the name, contained on the plates or he held a mistaken idea that the plates would bring a fancy price as junk. The plates have been made secure against further efforts of this sort. According to Mr. Diehl they would be worth very little as junk.

PROF. TIERNAN SEEKS TO ESTABLISH PATERNITY OF CHILD BORN TO HIS WIFE; MOTHER HYSTERICAL UPON STAND

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 20.—Debate over the admissibility of testimony of Professor John Tiernan, regarding the marital relations of himself and wife, is expected to be resumed when hearings are taken up today in the case of Mrs. Augusta Tiernan, wife of the professor, who charges Harry Poulin with the paternity of her ten-month-old child.

Testimony of Mrs. Tiernan, which was corroborated by her husband, was to the effect that the couple had discontinued marital relations several months prior to the beginning of the alleged affair between Mrs. Tiernan and Poulin.

The argument between the contending attorneys began yesterday when Professor Tiernan was placed on the stand and was being questioned regarding that point. Defense counsel raised the question as to just how far a husband's testimony is admissible in a case of the peculiar character of the present one, and the debate was still in progress when court was adjourned for the day.

Yesterday's hearing which was taken up for the most part with the testimony of Mrs. Tiernan, was replete with sensational incidents. At one point, when counsel for the defense hinted at the possibility of Mrs. Tiernan's second child having a father other than the professor, the plaintiff arose from the chair, with tears streaming down her face, shrieked in a voice that could be heard in all parts of the courtroom: "Don't try to say anything like that. It is not true."

Defense attorneys immediately changed the line of questioning. Three times during the period in which Mrs. Tiernan was being subjected to a merciless cross-examination, the witness collapsed. But on being revived was able to continue throughout the trying ordeal, she stood firm and refused to change a single instance of her story of the affair with Poulin.

Although no announcement had been made, it is expected that Mrs. Poulin, wife of the defendant, would be placed on the stand today. Mrs. Poulin was subpoenaed by Prosecutor Floyd Wilson and is regarded as a valuable though somewhat reluctant witness. She has maintained throughout a staunch belief in her husband's innocence.

WHOLE TOWN IS HELD UP BY BANDITS

Mentor, Minn., in State of Seige For Hours When Bank Is Robbed

THEY GET $1,500 IN LOOT

Fifty Shots Fired Into Crowd Of Townspeople Who Assembled to Oppose Bandits

Mentor, Minn., Sept. 20.—Mentor was in a state of seige for four hours early today while robbers wrecked the Mentor State bank building, took $1,500 and drove away in an automobile, after firing more than fifty shots, and wounding four persons, two of them seriously.

The robbers entered the town in an automobile, drove to the Great Northern depot, which they entered and cut all wires. While they were working in the depot, William Fratze, who was sleeping there awakened and started to inquire what they wanted. His inquiry was stopped by the butt end of a pistol, and he awakened an hour after the robbers had departed, in a box car where they had placed him.

The first intimation that the townspeople had that robbers were at work came when the rear door of the bank was forced.

An alarm was connected with the home of Joseph Bagley, cashier, who at once started to save his home to determine the cause of the alarm. He was met by a man at the front door, who forced a shotgun into his ribs and told him to "stay in the house."

Bagley re-entered his home, but at once attempted to leave by the rear door. As he stepped out he was met by a charge of buckshot, fired by another robber stationed at the rear of his home.

After shooting Bagley, the two robbers withdrew to a point in front of the bank building where they erected a barricade, from which they kept up an almost continuous fire while their companions held the safe and vault of the bank building. The charge that they used was so heavy that the bank building was wrecked while the robbers who numbered four, were working a general alarm was given, but only two men, Joseph Benoit and his brother, Arthur, responded. The two appeared carrying shotguns and were met by a shower of buckshot from the lookouts Joseph felt, seriously injured.

AGREEMENT ON NEAR EAST SEEMS SURE

Poincare and Lord Curzon Hold Conference in Paris On Issue

TROOPS ARE WITHDRAWN

Turkish Nationalist Assembly Extends Dictatorship Of Kemal

CALL PEACE CONFAB (By the Associated Press) Paris, Sept. 20.—The allied conference on the Near Eastern situation decided late today to call a peace conference of eight nations interested in a settlement to determine the terms of peace. This conference will meet probably within two or three weeks.

The conference, it was announced, will consist of representatives of Great Britain, France, Turkey, Italy, Greece, Rumania and Jugoslavia.

Paris, Sept. 20.—An agreement between Great Britain and France on the Near Eastern problem seemed reasonably assured after a two and one-half hour conference between Premier Poincare and Lord Curzon, British foreign secretary, at the French foreign office this afternoon.

The two ministers outlined to each other at great length the views of their governments and considerable progress was believed to have been made toward an understanding.

Lord Curzon is understood to have informed M. Poincare that Great Britain would insist upon the absolute freedom of the straits of the Dardanelles and would insure this freedom by the presence of a large fleet.

The British foreign secretary, however, is said to have intimated that the British military effort in the Near East would be confined to the navy which gave rise to the impression that the British troops would soon be withdrawn from Chanak.

Premier Poincare informed Lord Curzon that the French policy was decidedly pacific, its chief aim being to make peace as soon as possible. He urged the immediate calling of a peace conference for a final settlement on the basis of the Turks remaining on the Asiatic side of the straits pending the outcome of the conference.

The two ministers were in agreement on the necessity of maintaining the freedom of the straits, although it is understood there may be some differences of opinion as to the character of the control to be exercised.

FRENCH WITHDRAW

It is impossible to estimate the loss of life. Most American observers agree, however, that fully 2,000 perished

NEW BRIDGE IS ACCEPTED BY STATE AND U.S.

Foundation Company Is Released From Liability, State Engineer Announces

UNDERPASS PLANS

Northern Pacific Engineers Agree on Elimination of Grade Crossing at Mandan

The new vehicular bridge across the Missouri river, formally dedicated Monday, has been approved by engineers of the United States after inspection and has been formally accepted by the state, releasing the Foundation Company from any further responsibility on the bridge except as to guarantees. W. H. Robinson, state engineer, said today. The highway commission is not ready to submit the final volume on the bridge expense, totalling about $39,000, Mr. Robinson said. While the exact cost can not yet be ascertained because of interest charges still accruing, it is probable the cost will be somewhat less than previously estimated, the state engineer said.

Mr. Robinson said that engineers for the Northern Pacific railroad had verbally agreed on a plan for building an underpass on the road between the bridge and Mandan, and that he was informed that plans were now being prepared by the railroad company.

The proposed underpass will entail a great deal of work, as the road will pass under the main line and the Mandan north and south branches of the Northern Pacific, at their junction a considerable distance from the point of present crossing of the main line track. All three tracks will have to be raised 12 feet to make possible an underpass with practically no depression. One of the problems considered, Mr. Robinson said, was whether the raising of the tracks at the junction would necessitate raising the tracks on a low stretch between the road crossing and the bridge. This low stretch is looked upon by the railroad engineers as a waterway in time of flood of the Missouri river, he said, and the engineers feared that if it were necessary to raise the track on this stretch such a water pressure would be created in time of flood that the Northern Pacific bridge would be washed out. This objection has been met in the general plans sketched, he said.

It is probable that no work on the underpass will be done this year. The estimated cost of $78,000. Two young men were killed a few weeks ago by collision of an automobile and a Northern Pacific train at the main line crossing west of the river.

SUES GUMMER AND MRS. CASE

Hans Wick, Father of Murdered Girl, Asks Damages

Fargo, N. D., Sept.—Hans Wick of Grand, Minn., father of Marie Wick who was murdered in the Prescott hotel a year ago last summer by William Gummer, now serving a life sentence for the crime in the state penitentiary at Bismarck, has brought a civil suit jointly against Gummer and Mrs. Anna E. Case, asking $10,000 damages because of the killing of his daughter. The action has been filed in Cass county district court and probably will be tried at the November term of court.

J. E. Hendrickson of Fargo and C. G. Dosland of Moorhead, attorneys for Wick, have secured an injunctive order from the Cass county district court, enjoining both Gummer and Mrs. Case from incurring or disposing of any real or personal property in their possession.

Mrs. Case was known throughout the murder trial as Mrs. Lawrence, her former name. She owns a house at the corner of Tenth and Sixth streets, and it was because attorneys for Mr. Wick believed she was about to dispose of this property that the injunctive order was secured.

Gummer Has Property William Gummer is one of the heirs to a considerable estate, left by his father, Morris John Gummer who died in Fargo last June. The elder Gummer left a farm and other valuable property near Mayville, N. D. to part of which Gummer is heir.

Call In Help of Red Cross First Aid at Pageant Accident

The services of the First Aid Station maintained by the Burleigh County Red Cross unit at the County club grounds during the pageant were in demand when Mrs. Fred P. Knudsen, one of the pageant dancers, sustained a very painful sprained ankle when she stepped into a hole while participating in an Indian dance. She was rushed to the "Red Cross first aid station" where first aid was administered and then taken to her home.

The conical shaped army tent with its two enormous Red Cross emblems brought back memories of war times to many of the spectators.

Those in charge of the station report that a number of soldiers called at the station. Dr. F. R. Smyth who is going to Washington, D. C. in connection with the United States Public Health Service, will represent the Burleigh county chapter at the National Conference of the American Red Cross there October 9-10.

Clock Ticking Away Seconds Which Will Bring Pluckiest to Desired Goal; Judges Announced and Final Result of Campaign Now Entirely Up to Candidates.

Saturday night—September 23 at 8 o'clock. That is the magic day and hour when The Tribune's $10,000 Automobile and Prize campaign will close, bringing to an end the greatest newspaper circulation building campaign that has yet stirred Bismarck and all surrounding territory.

Four days—96 hours—yes, it can almost be counted in minutes. And the candidates, enthused to the highest degree, aware of the unprecedented opportunities that confront them, striving by hard and earnest effort to rise, battling with every ounce of strength at their command to increase their reserve.

Combining the Field Everywhere candidates are swarming in eager and anxious quest for subscriptions that will bring them the big votes—and every hour that passes instills new energy into them.

This campaign has evoked an intense interest, not only because of the many popular candidates entered, but also because of the many valuable prizes in store for the winners. The few hours that remain before the call of "time" are being utilized to immense advantage by those who are determined to win—and of those there are many. Their own pride and self-satisfaction in proving energetic enough to win over the field, coupled with the desire to qualify the confidence and loyal support of their friends, are leading them forward to the cherished goal with never a glance behind.

Misleading Stories The wise candidates pay no attention to frequent rumors that circulate with the hope of damaging effect. Misleading stories have but one object—to influence some candidates to retire for fear of their passing someone else in the race. Such tales have no foundation, whatsoever. It is obvious that no one can determine the ultimate result of this campaign. Everyone has an equal chance with the others. No one knows how many reserve ballots another candidate may have. The subscriptions, mostly new ones, are coming in to the campaign department literally in handfuls. And when it is considered that all candidates are sharing in this work, the final outcome will, no doubt, be exceedingly close. Every worker is in the dark as to the number of votes his competitors may have. Therefore, no matter what may be said regarding the chances of any particular candidate, it is solely their own opinions. Other candidates probably have a vote reserve equally as substantial; hence there is nothing to fear.

Old Extra Vote Offer Courage and downright hustling are the two main things to observe. Votes are the only means that will win the big prizes next Saturday night, and all contenders should—and for that matter are—taking it upon themselves to annex. Just as many of these as are within their power, between now and the finale.

Subscriptions can be obtained almost anywhere and the territory is unlimited. The present extra vote offer of 150,000 for every $30 worth of new subscriptions, which positively comprises the last offer of the campaign, allows and makes possible wonderful gains in the vote standings if taken full advantage of. In just four short days, good, hard, conscientious work can be rewarded by a costly automobile. You can well afford to sacrifice everything in reaping this tremendous reward for real effort.

MORE BIDS ON COAL ACCEPTED

More favorable coal bids were received by the board of administration from its second advertisement of the season, according to members of the board of administration who today announced letting of two contracts. The Lehigh Coal Co. of Dickinson was given the contract for delivery of 8,000 tons of coal to the state penitentiary at Bismarck and 1,000 tons to the training school at Mandan, at a price of $2.50 f. o. b. mine. The Zenith Coal Co. was given contract for furnishing 5,000 tons to the state division at the same price f. o. b. mine. Bids for furnishing coal at state institutions at Valley City, Devils Lake, Mayville and the state capitol are still under consideration.

PRIZE WINNERS? WHY CERTAINLY!

Of course, they took "blue ribbons" at the War Veterans' Baby Show, recently held in Omaha, Neb. On the right is John William Hill, Jr., son of a former doughboy, and the young lady receiving proof of his affection and part of his ice cream cone is Alice Joan, daughter of an ex-sailor. They won in a field of 500, all sons and daughters of ex-service men.

TOTAL LOSSES ON BONDS TO STATE $31,000

Reports Are Made on Condition of Bond, and Fire and Tornado Funds

Total losses paid by the state bonding fund through defealcations of public officers since its organization January 1, 1918, has amounted to $31,270.03, as reported to the annual report of Harold Hopson, manager, filed with the Governor. Of this amount the department has recovered $11,129.31, and it is expected the balance will be reduced somewhat by further settlements, the report adds. The losses were chiefly in a few large defealcations, Mr. Hopson said.

The department, the report states, makes a practice of reinsuring all bond amounts in excess of $25,000 with the larger private companies, the department having paid out $3,858.00 in premiums for reinsurance.

The financial statement for the period from Dec. 31, 1917 to August 31, 1922, shows a net income of $144,688.24. The assets consist of $130,231.54 cash on deposit with the state treasurer, and bills receivable, premiums receivable, real estate and furniture and fixtures bringing the total to $144,688.24. Liabilities include $20,590.00 unearned premiums and a surplus of $114,098.24. The total amount of bonds in force is $15,409,150.00. Operating costs are shown as $13,809.48, and interest collections on surplus, etc. to date amount to $8,069.22.

The report on the state fire and tornado fund shows a net income of $220,000 since August 1, 1919, unearned premium liability $70,707.37, with surplus of $249,570.51. The net insurance in force is: fire, $15,670,595.00; tornado, $16,199,644. Premiums paid by political subdivisions amounted to $470,186.19.

This department reinsures with private companies losses above $100,000. Reinsurance premiums amounting to $52,554.29 have been paid.

The report of state examiners, attached, state that affairs of the department have been found in good condition.

DAKOTA GUARD SHOWS WELL

Bismarck Man in Money at Camp Perry, Ohio, Shoot

The North Dakota National Guard rifle team, competing at Camp Perry, Ohio, against shooting teams from National Guards of other states and the regular army and marine corps, is making a good showing, according to announcement of results received at the office of Adjutant General G. A. Fraser.

In the enlisted men's team match the North Dakota guard finished 16th out of 24 entries, losing out to teams from Pennsylvania and Florida, and winning over teams from Illinois, Tennessee, Delaware, West Virginia and Louisiana. While the North Dakota team was low among the teams its score ranked well up with the leaders. This match was two sighting shots and ten shots at slow fire at each range, standing at 200 yards and prone at 600 yards. The winning team was a Marine Corps team, which had a score of 553. The North Dakota score was 507.

Private first class Loyal P. St. John, Company I, Wahpeton, finished in the money in a members match, being one of 78 men to have a score of 48 out of a possible 50, with 619 entries. His standing was 137th.

Corporal Calvin H. Christoph, Company A, Bismarck, finished in the money in the 300-yards rapid fire shoot, making a score of 49 out of 50 and finishing 140th out of 580 entries, which entitled him to the rating of a tyro winner. This shoot was ten shots in one minute and 10 seconds, position standing to prone. Standings for September 5 show the North Dakota team ranking as follows: Capt. L. R. Baird, 191; Cpl. Calvin H. Christoph, 187; Sgt. Harold E. Barker, 13; Capt. James D. Gray, 181; Cpl. John Aughmay, 178; Cpl. Oscar W. Bell, 177; Cpl. Jess Ottinger, 165; Pvt. 1st class, St. John, 184; Capt. H. A. Broccop, 160; Spl. Hulbert Jaynes, 159; Pvt. 1st class, Carl Seramlin, 138; Sgt. Ed. Karst, Carl Seramlin, 138; Sgt. Ed. Karst.

Adjutant General Fraser expressed satisfaction with the showing made thus far by the North Dakota guardsmen, in view of the stiff competition from guard teams and regular army teams organized for longer periods and having more experience. The shoot continues for several days.

For Indigestion

Sour, Acid, Gassy Stomach, Bloating, Flatulence, Try Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

After eating or at any time chew one or two Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. They relieve the gassy, sour rising, flatulence, belching, bloating, heartburn, pressure and such troubles due to indigestion because they give the stomach the alkaline effect the same as when the stomach is working normally. Carry them loose in your pocket. Just chew them. Get a 60 cent box today, any drugstore. They sure do the work. You know from experience that if the stomach works without givness, sour rising, belching and so on, you generally feel fine, no headache, no constipation, none of that dead, tired feeling. Be sure to get a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets known to wise people all over the U. S. and Canada as the one reliable relief for indigestion.

DEATH OF FOUR TO BE PROBED

Members of Family Struck by Train in Moorhead

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 20.—A coroner's inquest is scheduled to be held tomorrow, to inquire into the accident at Moorhead Monday in which four people lost their lives when a string of freight cars being shunted on a siding crashed into the Ford car of the members of the family of Bern Haroldson of Twin Valley, Minn.

The dead are Mr. and Mrs. Bern Haroldson, aged 49 and 42, Gladys 11, and Kermit, 6, their children. Miss Elma Haroldson, 21, a third child, whom the family were taking to the Moorhead State Teachers College to register, is in St. Ansagar's hospital, Moorhead, suffering a broken leg, bad cuts and bruises and possible internal injuries. A coroner's jury will hold an inquest Thursday at 10 a. m.

Miss Haroldson was not pinned under the wreck as badly as the others and was released within a few minutes by rescuers. She was fully conscious when taken to the hospital. Mrs. Haroldson was pinned beneath the Ford, which was twisted under the wheels of the freight car and was not released until an hour later, after the rescuers had jacked the car up several feet. Mr. Haroldson was alive when first found but died before extricated. The two small children apparently both died almost instantly. Bodies of all except Miss Haroldson were badly mutilated and mangled in the wreckage.

SHOP FORCES INCREASED TO NORMAL SIZE

Many Roads Make Own Terms With Strikers Regardless Of Union Pact

Chicago, Sept. 20.—Shop forces of the Nations railways were gradually increased to their normal size, according to indications today.

While some lines are restoring jobs to erstwhile strikers under terms of the Baltimore peace plan for ending the shopmen's strike, other roads, holding aloof from the arrangement with strike leaders, continued to recruit shop workers independent of all negotiations with the six shop craft-unions which went on strike July 1.

Twenty thousand strikers are due to return to the New York Central shops under the terms of the Baltimore agreement as a result of yesterday's settlement between A. H. Smith, president of the system, and Bert M. Jewell, head of the shop crafts. According to the most generally accepted estimates, about 50,000 erstwhile strikers have returned to work on other roads which entered the Baltimore truce.

Roads remaining out of the Baltimore agreement reported shop forces at work ranging from 75 to 100 percent of normal.

On Western roads alone, 122,415 shop men, or 77.5 percent of the forces employed last June, were reported to be at work the early part of this week. The number was based on reports received by Samuel Fulton, President of the Chicago Great Western and chairman of the Western Executive committee on public relations, who made the announcement.

On the heels of the New York Central settlement, came news of the first collective agreement with striking shopmen in the Southwest. The agreement was signed by the San Antonio and Arkansas pass railroad and provides for the restoration of jobs to 450 shopmen who walked out July 1.

Officials of roads West of the Mississippi river are due to meet here October 2 for conferences with W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, and E. L. Sheppard, head of The Order of Railroad Conductors, to negotiate for new agreements, according to an announcement by Mr. Lee. These brotherhoods within the last few days signed agreements with the New York Central lines, the Pennsylvania System and the Lehigh Valley railroad.

While his brother escaped with slight wounds.

Others who might have come to the aid of the Benoit boys were held within their homes by the gunfire of the robbers.

After the men had spent four hours in the vicinity of the bank, apparently sure that they would not be seriously disturbed, they withdrew.

Babley, Fratte and the two Benoit boys were at once removed to Crookston, where their wounds were treated. The last reports from that city indicate that all will recover, although several buckshot were taken from the bodies of Bugley and Joseph Benoit.

It has not been determined in which direction the robbers went after leaving here. A general alarm has been sent out over this section of the state, and all police are watching for the robbers, who are known to be armed with sawed-off shotguns, although some, who listened to their firing declared that rifles were also used.

It was impossible to advise outside of what was occurring here until a place was reached where telephone connections could be established.

In addition to cutting all telegraph wires, the telephone wires were cut. A careful check of the foot taken was made by bank officials this morning. The robbers took nothing but cash it was announced.

FOUR ARE SHOT (By The Associated Press)

Crookston, Minn., Sept. 20.—Three men were shot and wounded and a boy was knocked unconscious during a robbery of the Mentor State Bank of Mentor, 25 miles Southeast of here by four men early today, according to reports received here. The robbers fled with all the bank's cash, but the amount has not been determined, bank officials said.

The wounded men are Joseph Tagley, cashier of the bank, Harry Benoit and Joseph Benoit, brothers. None of the men were seriously injured, physicians said.

Tagley was shot by a guard placed in front of his house when he started to investigate an explosion. The Benoit brothers were shot by a second near the bank and it was believed the bandits also attacked him.

The robbers cut all telegraph and telephone wires leading into the city before blowing the vault with nitroglycerine. Although the robbery occurred between 2 and 3 o'clock this morning, the alarm was not given until several hours later because of the severed communications.

retold incidents especially intimate in Mandan's history.

The Lewis and Clark episode, in which the landing of the brave explorers at a point north of Mandan in 1804 was shown, was carried out by more than 100 actors. The episode opened with a Mandan Indian village scene, which included an Indian wedding by the ancient custom of the torch. The arrival of Lewis and Clark followed, striking consternation among the Indians, but who received them in peace. The Indians entertained the white men and the latter in turn entertained the Indians. Capt. Clark planted the American flag on Dakota soil. The explorers asked for a guide, and the chief called the husband of Sakakawea, a Shoshone Indian girl who had been taken captive and was now the wife of a French trader. A bargain for her services was made which was pleasing to all. Sakakawea's husband getting 5000 though losing her and she getting the opportunity to return to her own people.

Another episode was that of a fur trading post on the upper Missouri in 1832, showing the arrival of the fur trappers, coming of the Indians to the post to trade and the measuring of furs by the length of the rifle, and a quarrel in which two traders are killed. Another episode showed Mandan in 1879, with the famous scout, Yellowstone Kelly, and Big Bill engaging in a game of poker in which Madge, a dance hall girl, offered herself to "Big Bill" to bet against Kelly's pile. Big Bill lost and Madge was ready to carry out the bargain but Yellowstone Kelly turned her back to Big Bill together with the pile of money.

The Custer ball at old Fort Lincoln was reenacted by 100 Bismarck and Mandan people, the Quakers and Virginia people, again being heartily received by the audience. The dances of the young girls of the two cities which formed the interludes also were well received.

The prologue was given by Miss Mabel Campbell of Bismarck.

Queen is Crowned

The Pageant closed with the patriotic tableaux and World War scene, and the coronation of Mandan's Queen of the Pageant, Miss Helen Stahler, elected over three other candidates. She was candidate of the Elks.

A welcome arch at the east end of Main street, Mandan, was built after the fashion of the old blockhouses which overlooked neighboring points.

BARBERRY CAMPAIGN ON

Six Men Start Work to Clean Up Burleigh County

Six men, employees of the United States Department of Agriculture, are now engaged in making a farm to farm survey of Burleigh county in the campaign to eradicate the Common Barberry. These men travel from farm to farm in cars bearing the insignia "U. S. Dept. of Agriculture" on the windshield and at each farm examine the planted shrubbery in quest of any Barberry bushes that may be present. When any are found the owner is notified and the bushes removed and destroyed. The Barberry plant is not found growing wild in North Dakota so therefore the search is confined to planted shrubbery.

The Common Barberry is known to be the only most plant of the Black Stem Rust Spores and the eradication of this bush means the elimination of the Black Stem Rust which is the greatest enemy of the spring wheat grower. It is the aim of the men on this eradication work to locate and destroy every Common Barberry bush in the county and to successfully do this they must have the co-operation and support of each and every citizen. This will eliminate the possibility of overlooking a place that may contain a bush.

The Common Barberry is a tall, erect shrub, often as much as 12 feet high. The bark is grayish in color, and there are spines along the stem. These spines are usually in groups of three or more. The leaves occur in clusters, are green or purple in color, and have saw-toothed. The yellow flowers and red berries are in long, current-like clusters. The flowers are small and inconspicuous, but the red berries are numerous and easily seen.

Any information regarding the location of Common Barberry will be greatly appreciated. It was announced by Ralph W. Erick, Field Leader, Barberry Eradication, Wing. Also any person whom is in doubt as to whether a shrub is Common Barberry please send sample to me for identification.

its and wearing shoes have webbed the foot, made it weak and clumsy. Its dominant power can be called back. You recall Trip, the Armless Wonder, who writes with his toes in the cinema sidshow.

LOANS
In the last eight years our country has sent abroad nearly $22,000,000,000, says Crissinger, controller of the currency.
Maybe we have helped Europe too much, instead of not enough. Strength is developed by standing on one's own feet.

FISHING
The head of a deceased brokerage house swears at the bankruptcy proceedings in New York that he went on a fishing trip and returned to find $1,000,000 vanished from his office.
Rather a costly fishing trip.
On a smaller scale, hundreds of thousands of men are letting their money and business get away from them while they are on the other missions.

BULLET-PROOF
The bullet-proof packet, adopted by New York City police, is placed on the market. It costs $60, weighs 12 pounds and, according to claim of the makers, stops a bullet from the .45 army Colt.
Very convenient thing to have had, during the war. But inventors now will turn their attention to a bullet that will pierce any jacket. So much for the permanence of accomplishment.

MARKS
The mark is being thrown overboard so fast in Germany and the dollar taking its place in price quotations, that leagues of German consumers protest to their government. They say the sudden swing of the American dollar is making its price rise faster than the people's income can keep up with it.
In this you see German finance right-about-face. Speculation in the dollar takes the place of gambling with the mark.

LIFE
Life is a down-and-up flow of energy from the sun. In a nutshell this is the "katergency" theory announced by Dr. F. C. Eve, eminent British scientist.
"It makes many important new points. But, in the main, it is an old theory. For at least a generation, certain scientists have believed that all life on earth is merely a flow of energy from the sun and its dissipation back to the sun. The ancient sun-worshippers had a similar notion."
Dr. Edward Baly, English chemist, says we may some day have bottled sunshine. We already have it—coal.

NEW FOOTBALL ERA
The close of a period and the birth of another always impressive, even when it is only a period in the football history of a university. Thursday, for the first time in twenty-three years, a University of Minnesota football team began its preparations for the season under a coach other than Dr. H. L. Williams. The old has gone, and with it the flavor of its tradition. The name of Dr. Williams was linked with Minnesota for twenty-two years, and his personality was stamped on the teams which represented the school. All this is henceforth only a memory, to be re-awakened and intermingled with an indefinable sentiment of regret each year by the tang of the first "football weather" in the nostrils of those who followed the Gophers in the days when Dr. Williams was their sovereign. It is a new beginning for Minnesota. Followers of Minnesota football have confidence in Mr. Spalding and give him their complete support. They can express their good wishes no better than to hope that his tenure is to be as long and just as successful as was that of his predecessor.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

FIRST BRANCH TRIP
Fifteen years ago September 1st, the first train to run through Minnot and Bismarck, passed through Volva. This train was known for years as the "dinky," the "lignite limited" and in the winter time some dubbed it the "Sheridan limited." The distance traveled by the train was 184 miles. The last lap in the tying of the steel on the new line was between Max and Dodgen and there was great rejoicing among the natives of the branch line when the first train pulled through. Between Max and Drake there were some very deep, narrow cuts, which have since been widened, and in the winter time the train had a hard time of it on account of the blizzards, often times being delayed as long as a week at a time.
The Journal editor and several other Volva citizens lived on the branch in those good old days and when that first train pulled in it created one of those thrills that come but on a life time. Now the train runs from Bismarck to Drake connecting with the main line trains at that point. Volva Journal.

AGED
Dr. J. R. Ward, 96, says he smokes 60 cigarettes a day and is against prohibition. Before grabbing his heavy smoking as the cause of his advanced years, consider this probability:
He is old despite his smoking, not on account of it.
Ward attributes his longevity to minding his own business and never worrying about anything. A sensible formula.

GONE
A Cleveland prohibition rees an auto rounding a corner. Young man driving the car is sitting on the back of the front seat, operating the steering wheel with his feet. He is arrested for careless driving, but protests that he can handle the car as well with his feet as with his hands.
Thousands of years ago, if we believe scientists, that would have been true of all men, toes long and as useful as fingers. Changed hab-

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts

NANCY and Nick appeared at once at the Fairy Queen's palace when they heard she wished them to hunt for her lost automobile.

"My dear children," said she, kindly, "You found my lost wand so quickly that I am sure you will discover my automobile just as soon."

"I do need it so! Not that my wings won't take me anywhere—it is that at all! It's just that, even if I am a fairy, I like to ride as well as anybody."

"Do you know who took it?" asked Nick.
"Sh!" whispered Her Royal Highness, looking cautiously around. "I'm afraid somebody will hear."

"Yes, I know, but it's a secret. It was Light Fingers. He steals everything he gets his hands on. He's as bad as Flap-Doodle."

"Of course, poor thing," sighed the Fairy Queen, "I suppose he can't help it. He has long, thin fingers and says they take things without his knowing it."

"The trouble is," she went on, "I don't think that Light Fingers stole my automobile for himself. He's so smart the other wicked fairies get him to do things for them."

"Twelve Toes, the Sorcerer; Bena Moena, the Magician; and Tricky Tricky, the Wizard, all employ him. I don't know who has my automobile now."

"Well, don't you worry," said Nancy promptly. "We'll start at once if you give us the Magical Green Shoes again."

"That's nice, dear, thank you," smiled the Queen, calling to some of her councilors to bring the little shoes that had taken the Twins on so many adventures.
The children slipped them on and wished themselves away on a new adventure.

THE GREAT AMERICAN HOME

BABY THINKS THE NEW LONG DRESSES ARE ALLRIGHT—
ST. PAUL IS A KIND OF BIG HOME-TOWN
Yes, Indeed, People Actually Stop on the Street to Shake Hands and Pass the Time of Day

By W. H. Porterfield
It's so beautiful outside St. Paul, proper, that if I lived here, I'd never want to go to the city; and in fact a great many citizens, mechanics and millionaires as well, are getting out of town and staying out as much as possible, winter and summer, by building shacks, cottages and mansions upon the shores of some of the 25 lakes within 15 miles of town.

But be they small or elaborate, they are homes and up here the thirst for two rooms, bath and kitchenette hasn't swept all the sense out of folks yet.
Hundreds of families, who otherwise would never save a bean, have bought one and two-acre lots on the shore or near the shore of some lake, have built cottages and put out gardens during the past two or three years.

Itney bus lines compete with trolleys in service to most of these points. The fare runs from 10 to 25 cents to the farthest points, but this means fewer trips to town and more flippers and above all, a home owned by the family.
In winter they thrive on a succession of hilarious winter sports, with the mercury down away below zero, until they get a few thousand ahead and then they go to California—some of 'em.

Romantic Story
St. Paul, capital and second city of Minnesota, has a population of 250,000 folks, a very large proportion of whom are not more than one generation removed from Scandinavia or Germany.
The story of St. Paul is an exceedingly romantic one, dating back to the days when that great French voyager, Father Hennepin, was brought bound in a canoe to the head waters of the Mississippi. That was in 1680.

In 1865 Zeb Pike, the same soldier-adventurer who discovered Pike's Peak, held a council with the Indians on the site of what is now Ft. Snelling, and in 1841 two French priests dedicated a little chapel to the Indians and called it: "St. Paul the Apostle of the Nations."
St. Paul has one of the finest capital buildings in the country. It is a great manufacturing and railroad center, nine great systems and 23 lines radiating from here to every part of the country; and there is always the theory, at least, of river transportation on the Mississippi, lingering in the background.

Conservative
St. Paul factories employ more than 40,000 men and women and it being but 150 miles to Duluth, head of the Great Lakes, water transportation of all heavy commodities, including coal and iron, is a vital feature in the development of the city. St. Paul divides with Minneapolis the great-trade of the northwestern granger states, and her financial resources are exceptionally strong.
St. Paul is now recognized as one of the great meat-packing centers of the country, all the big crowd being represented here, while her shoe factories turn out 7000 pairs of footwear daily.

In fact St. Paul is rich and prosperous—and it might as well be admitted, extremely conservative. She is not growing very rapidly as American cities count such things, and consequently the lot of the worker is better here than in many other places, for he hasn't got such keen competition.

Folks know each other in St. Paul and speak to one another on the streets. It is considered no disgrace to call a friend by his first name, and ladies downtown shopping frequently meet other ladies who, not actually recognize and shake hands with! In fact St. Paul is a kind of home town.

St. Paul women are said to own some of the most beautiful fur coats in the world; and small wonder—for this city is the center of the fur trade, 3,500,000 skins being consumed annually by St. Paul manufacturers.
Third in Millinery
In millinery she stands third

among American cities, and in many other lines is away above her per capita average.
Culturally St. Paul is making genuine progress. Her free organ recitals daily at noon in the civic auditorium have become famous over the northwest; the splendid work of the St. Paul institute in instruction of folks in the fine arts and appreciation of art, music, etc., is almost unique among attempts of this character. Thousands of St. Paulites attend these classes with fine results, and the work of the institute is constantly broadening.

St. Paul streets are unattractive. Her business architecture for the most part is commonplace and a good deal of it is tawdry. But these things are the result of the wealth and conservatism of which she is the embodiment.
A campaign is to be inaugurated this fall to "sell St. Paul to St. Paulites." Maybe that is what is needed.

GREAT DEMAND FOR TANLAC DUE TO MERIT ALONE

It's What The People Say About It That Causes Orders For Nearly A Million Bottles In One Month—Big Minneapolis Druggist Elaborates.

The greatest test any medicine can undergo is the "repeat" sales test. Tanlac's phenomenal record has been possible because of the fact that men and women who buy one bottle invariably return for the second and recommend it to others because it has helped them.
To say that Tanlac now has the largest sale of any medicine of its kind does not begin to tell the story. No other preparation has ever approached the marvelous success of Tanlac, and in the eight years it has been on the market 30,000,000 bottles have been sold. Between June 15 and July 15 of this year orders were received for nearly one million bottles, and it is evident that dealers are still enthusiastic over the ever-increasing demand, by the tone of letters with orders.

The Minneapolis Drug Co., Minneapolis, Minn., one of the largest in the Northwest, writes under date of August 16th: "All sales records for a proprietary preparation have been exceeded each year, and our volume of Tanlac business. The first seven months this year we have sold 159,940 bottles, an average increase each month of 21.2 per cent over 1921." W. A. Hoyer & Co., large wholesale druggists of Denver, Colo., writing under date of July 17, state: "We are submitting today our order for the fourth carload of your goods since April 1. Taking into consideration local conditions this demand is not only exceptional but alone in the record of sales for proprietary articles in this section."

The tremendous popularity of Tanlac is the unquestioned and outstanding proof of its merit. No medicine of less superlative quality and effectiveness could possibly attain such a huge sales record nor gain endorsements of thousands of well-known men and women in all parts of the continent who stand for the best in their communities.

Like all great successes Tanlac has its imitators, and although there are over a hundred preparations on the market claiming similar therapeutic value, many copying the original Tanlac advertising, the popularity of this preparation continues to grow, and it is unquestionably the most talked of medicine in the world today.

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.—Advt.

Bertha Collars Again

Very wide bertha collars are being shown for autumn wear. When they are of the sort that come with the dress they are often made of the material itself and trimmed with embroidery or heading. When they are of the detachable variety they are usually made of sheer lace or net trimmed with lace. They open front and back or only in the back. The soft transparent folds of the very wide ones are most becoming from which it is safe to argue that their new popularity is assured.

Afternoon, evening, daytime and negligee frocks all use them impartially, and so do garments for children, grown-ups and in-between.

FINE DISPLAY OF HATS SHOWS MANY STYLES

While the hat display at the Buchholz millinery shop can not be called "hats of antiquity" since the oldest one is only 20 years old, yet those hats which Mrs. N. L. Call bought and wore in Bismarck are "relics of the past" so far as styles in modern millinery are concerned. And yet the material in these hats is elegant. A bird of paradise, velvet, fine straw, silk and velvet flowers. Designs! Shapes! They must have been designed after Paris hats.

Today, however a woman calls the large, elegant one of 109 "a peach basket," the picture hat of 1908, "A butter bowl," and some of the others "grandmother bonnets."

Yet, the early milliners of Bismarck must be given credit for the ways in which they designed hats and selected materials. Ten years from today our elegant velours and beavers still probably be considered as antiquated as those bought in Bismarck and worn by Mrs. Call twenty years ago.

In the First Guaranty Bank is a display of a remarkably fine collection of Indian bead work and curios, the property of S. T. Park. Among the many wonderful articles of fine and curious workmanship are some with interesting histories. The skin of one of the largest rattlesnake seen in these regions is attracting attention. Some rare examples of wedding cakes are shown in the Barker Bakery window.

POET'S CORNER

OUR LAND

In the happy land of freedom, From the central states and northward,

Creeps a strong and mighty river, Rolling slowly surely onward, Rolls the muddy old Missouri. Steep beside it rise the flood banks, Rise the barren clayish flood banks, Broken here and there by coulees, Coulees spreading out and backward, Wide in distance on the prairie.

Like a mystic Indian legend, Calling all men of things hidden, There all men must grow in power, In the everlasting power, Which God gives to all of reason, Gives to those who heed and listen, To the lessons taught by Nature.

Of the spring so shy in coming, Showing first her face in sunshine, First her face and then her garments, Garments green trimmed with the crocus.

Then the summer time of toiling, Working in the fields all growing, Growing and all ways preparing, Till prepared the fall comes reaping, Gathering all within its fold.

Then the blizzard coming roaring, Shrieking to us from the distance, Giving warning to make ready, And to fortify our stronghold, Powerfully to brave the blast. Soon the moonlight comes stealing, Drifting restfully o'er the stretch, Pure and white and almost smiling, Smiling at the storms departure.

Two Sandwich Ideas

(By Bertha E. Shapleigh) Of Columbia University. THE following are two good sandwiches for the lunch box. The fig and nut is especially good for the school children.

Cheese Sandwiches. 1 cream cheese, or 1 cup curd cheese, 1 puniento, finely chopped, 8 sliced and finely chopped olives, 3 tablespoons cooked spinach, Salt, cayenne to taste and cream to moisten to a consistency to spread.

Spread between slices of rye or graham bread which have been spread with butter or mayonnaise. The cheese mixture may be packed in a half-pound baking powder tin and allowed to stand until firm. Remove from tin, cut in thin slices and place between round slices of buttered brown bread.

Fig and Nut Sandwiches. Spread thin slices of buttered bread with stewed fig paste, sprinkle with finely chopped peanuts, press two slices together and cut in strips or triangles.

For the fig paste use one-fourth pound of figs and enough water to moisten. Cook in a double boiler three or four hours. A little lemon juice may be added to relieve the flat, sweet taste.

NOVELTIES

Vacationists' Day At Local Rotary

Vacationists' reports and a discussion of "International Rotary" featured the noonday luncheon of the Bismarck Rotary at the McKenzie hotel today.

J. L. Bull, president of the club, who has been away several weeks in the east told of his experiences in attending meetings at Owatta, Ogdensburg, N. Y., Boston and New York City.

He discussed generally the growth of Rotary throughout the world. There are now some 1,200 clubs with a membership of 83,450 of which 78,000 are in the United States.

Dr. E. P. Quinn spoke on "Rotary in Europe." He ascribed the slowness of the growth of Rotary clubs in Europe to the class consciousness which was more prevalent on that water than here. He declared that that barrier must be broken down before the Rotary came into its own.

G. F. Dullam spoke briefly upon the growth of Rotary in South America. Dr. Towne gave an account of his visit to the Chicago Rotary club and George Bird and Art Gussner told of meetings they attended. Mr. Bird attended in Boston and Mr. Gussner at St. Paul.

Cliff Haley of Tacoma, one of the visitors, gave an account of the activities of his club. Other visitors were E. J. Taylor, Jr., and Alex McDonald.

Next week on Wednesday Bismarck will entertain Norman Black, district governor.

DANCE FROCK.

PARIS CORSETS.

Some recent corset importations from Paris are made of most elaborate fabrics with higher tops and a more definite waistline than we have been in many a day.

VIOLET VELVET.

One of the most lovely evening frocks seen recently is of violet-colored chiffon velvet with draperies cut very low and held in place with rhinestone buckles.

LIZARD-SKIN CLOTH.

Lizard-skin cloth is one of the new materials of the season. It is particularly liked in the soft shade.

PAISLEY AND SERGE.

Nothing adds more pep to a serge or twill frock than the lavish use of Paisley silk which features red. This is one of the most successful combinations of the year.

COSTUME ACCESSORIES.

Crystal costume accessories are greatly in demand. They are combined with onyx and colored stones, and sometimes carved.

FOR EVENING.

A combination of frequently noticed in evening frocks is flame and old blue. Canary yellow is one of the color leaders in chiffon gowns.

STREET FROCKS.

Many of the smart street frocks of wool are entirely embroidered in silk floss or elaborately beaded in rather large wooden beads.

RHINESTONE.

Rhinestone buckles and straps are seen on many of the gowns of gold and silver silk. Frequently small stones outline the bodice and the skirt.

FIGURED FABRICS.

Knitted woads now are developing patterns in red embroidery, usually depicting scenes in China and the orient.

SATIN AND STEEL.

A gown of carmel colored satin, cut with an elaborate side drapery, is trimmed with inch bands of cut-steel beads, arranged in solid rows.

BROWNS LOSE, YANKS WIN FROM TIGERS

One Step Nearer Pennant While St. Louis Suffers Slump—Sisler Missed

(By the Associated Press) Chicago, Sept. 20.—The New York Yankees were a notch nearer their second consecutive American league championship today as a result of defeating Ty Cobb's battling Tigers, 4 to 3, in the first game of the series, while the St. Louis Browns without the services of George Sisler, and showing a reaction from the effects of their losing struggle with Huggins, succumbed to Washington by the same score.

The Yankees increased their lead in the race to two and a half games. They clinched the pennant by taking seven of their remaining nine games, even if St. Louis wins all eight of its contests.

Sam Jones of the Yankees and Herman Pillette, Cobb's twirling ace, both got off to wobbly starts, but Jones was straight after the second inning while his rival weakened in the seventh and eighth, when New York pushed over the tying and winning runs. Babe Ruth's thirty-fourth homer, a double steal by Schang and Jones and extra base wallop by Pipp and Meusel were scoring factors for the Yankees.

Ken Williams of the Browns matched Ruth's circuit clout with his 30th putting him two ahead of Rogers Hornsby of the St. Louis Cardinals and increasing the probability that he will displace the Babe as this year's home run chief.

The New York Giants holding the seemingly impregnable lead of five and a half games, were ready to pitch the second place Pittsburgh outfit in the first of a three game series today. The Pirates gained a half game in the race by trimming Philadelphia 6 to 1, while the champions were idle. The Giants, to clinch their eighth National league title since 1900 need win but seven of their 13 games, even if the Pirates capture all the contests.

Two recruit hurlers, Metevier and Wynn, pitched Cleveland to a double victory over the Boston Red Sox, 7 to 4, and 3 to 2. Neither issued a base on balls.

Hornsby hit safely in this thirty-third consecutive game while St. Louis downed the Boston Braves, 5 to 4 in the only other game played in either major league.

Suppose Pennant Title Depends on Shocker?

URBAN SHOCKER.

BY BILLY EVANS.

The New York Giants won the 1922 series because McGraw's team got the pitching plus the breaks. The New York Yankees were able to force the series to eight games largely through good pitching. The breaks really decided the issue. In two of the games an infield error on an easy chance spelled victory for the Giants and defeat for the Yankees.

It is only natural to assume that pitching will play its usual prominent part in the coming series. In the world series of 1921 the Giants showed three sterling pitchers in Douglas, Nehf and Burnes. Hoyt and Mays.

The Yankees presented two pitching demons in Waite Hoyt and Carl Mays. Bob Shawkey, pitched to win, was unable to come through. Last year's battle war between three great pitchers and two crack performers. The margin of victory went to the Giants, who had three star twirlers working in good style.

All of which leads me up to the opinion that a nine-game series calls for a better fortified pitching staff than a seven-game affair. A club that has one pitcher who stands out has a much better chance of coping a seven-game series through the work of that individual than it has of winning a nine-game clash.

Shocker a Wonder. This is much the position the St. Louis Browns would face if repeating the American League in the annual classic.

In Urban Shocker the St. Louis Browns have one of the greatest pitchers in the history of the game. Shocker is a spitball pitcher, but he has everything else in his repertoire. In addition, he knows how to pitch. Much thought is back of every ball that Shocker delivers. He is at his best in a pinch and seems to work with better success against the truly great hitters than the ordinary ones.

Shocker is a glutton for work. No task is too great. If the St. Louis Browns get into the big series it is a cinch that Shocker will start at least three games. Incidentally, it wouldn't be surprising to see him used as a relief pitcher in case any other twirlers failed.

Mixes Them Up. Although a spitball pitcher, and the possessor of a splitter that has a most deceptive break, Shocker mixes them up in great fashion. He has a free natural delivery that places little or no strain on the arm. Shocker wastes no energy. He bears down only when necessary. He is much harder to hit when there are runners on than when the bases are empty.

Shocker is a pass master in the art of pitching. That is why I figure he has a great chance to beat any club three times in a short series. Unquestionably the chances of the Browns would, to a great extent, depend on the success of Shocker if they get in the series.

And don't forget, Shocker is at his best in the pinch.

COLLINS "SIZES UP" N. Y. GIANTS

BY EDDIE COLLINS

World's Greatest Second Baseman Following a series of 14 games this past spring between the Giants and White Sox, which was bitterly fought and closely contested, I remarked to McGraw, "You've got the best National League team I ever saw."

With the possible exception of one position, center field, which I hear Cunningham and the veteran Stengel have filled most acceptably, I did not see how a single man could have been replaced with any advantage gained by the Giants.

With any pitching at all it looked a cinch for them to walk home, and apparently with very little good twirling they have simply slugged their way to another pennant.

As this story is being written it looks as though the Pirates at present were playing the best ball of any National League team, but I am of the opinion their rush is too late, and for this reason I will confine my discussion to the Giants alone as the most probable National League world series contestant.

The infielders of the old Chicago Cubs and the Athletics of former days, it is admitted, were pretty good, but if either of those two had anything on the present Giants inner workers, time alone will tell. It's a cinch none could have begun better.

Ideal First Baseman Taken individually, Kelly is an ideal first baseman, possessed with the best arm I've seen in baseball. A sure fielder, he is as consistent a performer as a manager could desire. Over 300 hitter, a slugger distinctly not fast, but he is dangerous at all times.

At second base, in Frankie Frisch I think the Giants have the best ball player in the National League. As I make this statement I can hear the name of Hornsby mentioned. In justice to the latter, let me say it's never been my pleasure to see him perform in a league game, but if he can better the work of my Fordham friend, in all departments of play, he's got to go some. As a fielder, base runner, hitter (either right or left handed), slugger or bunter, the best compliment I can think of to pay Frankie is, he is the Sisler of the National League.

In Bancroft at short, I think you see a typical McGraw man—at his best when the going is the toughest. Not as consistent or steady as some shortstops, but one who can rise to dizzy heights and save many a ball game. There may have been better National League shortstops, but never on a Giant team.

Groh rounds out the infield at third to perfection. Handicapped this year by injury, but when himself a wonderful fielder, especially of hard-hit balls, Groh is a most dangerous man at bat and best hit-and-run man on the club.

Best Utility Man In Johnny Rawlings, McGraw has undoubtedly the best utility man in baseball. When Young, next to Frisch, the best ball player on the club, Irish Meusel and either Cunningham or Stengel, to take care of the outfield and either Smith or Snyder behind the bat, McGraw can put a team on the field that looks hard to beat.

However, the one apparent weakness in the Giant style of play is its lack of versatility. There is too much sameness about every game with the Giants. Rarely is the "unexpected" pulled by any of its members. I am told McGraw does not encourage initiative on the part of any of even his more experienced men.

From my observations I have always found McGraw's teams playing slam-bang baseball, rarely resorting to the sacrificing game, unless in the very late stages and the score tied. On the contrary, if only one behind, it appears as though he says to his men "win or lose" it is in this inning; don't lay to lie.

With a pitching staff, or even two men—all that are really needed in a world series—that measured any way close to the caliber of the rest of the team, McGraw's opponent would be the one who would have to do all the worrying. Nehf I admired, and liked his work and actions immensely. He reminded me greatly of Eddie Plank. Why he hasn't done better this year, I can't imagine.

Scott I've never seen work, but the rest don't look formidable enough to me to stop the American League entry. Bismarck high school's 1922 football squad will get action here Saturday at the baseball park with the state training school of Mandan. The game, the first of the season, will begin at 3:30 p. m.

Coch Houser has about completed the schedule. Owing to the rule of the state association that district championship games must be finished by October 28 he has been unable to get Valley City and Jamestown on the schedule thus far. Lines are out to fill the open date on September 30.

Coch Houser is giving his men scrimmage work this week, and the team will be in good shape for the opening game. A large number of men will be given a trial in the game. The tentative line-up follows: Center, Benner or Robison; guards, Rhud, Reed; tackles, Scott, Middaugh, and Brown; Burke; quarter, Halloran or O'Hare; half backs, Lee Scroggins, Hahn, Murphy full-back, Alfson. Others likely to get in the game include Lane and the Svendsgaard brothers.

Word has been received that Emil Kline, who was center on the Washburn high school basketball team last year, will enter Bismarck high school Monday.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 16.—Reports to the "Old Grads" here of the first weeks workout of the football squad of the North Dakota Agricultural College indicate that when the squad is returned here Coach Borske will have a knowledge of some of his new material and also that he will have to construct his team quite largely from the men who made up the last years team, at least for the two or three early season games.

While the new material is promising and more new material is expected here September 25th, it lacks the experience in collegiate contests to take the place of the men of a season or two of experience. The squad's experience at Lake Sally has given the coaches however, an unusual opportunity to instruct in the fundamentals, the field in which many North Dakota High School players are deficient.

SAYS RECORDS OF BANKRUPT'S STORE ALTERED

Former Bookkeeper Testifies In Clothing Case Being Heard in U. S. Court

DEFENSE MAKES DEMAND

Association of Mrs. Blanche Gagne, former employee of the Gordon Clothing Company of Minot, that some of the records on the books of the company had been changed by Jay Gordon, and that the particular records before Judge Miller in federal court had been there in error, marked the closing of the plaintiff's case in the suit of the receiver to recover from various defendants two stores at Minot and one at Valley City.

The statement of Mrs. Gagne, made on cross-examination, was followed by a demand of defendants' attorneys for detailed information in connection with her statements. Mrs. Gagne followed O. R. Ball of Sobey, Minn., on the stand, Mr. Ball testifying as to inventories made in the Gordon store at Minot after creditors had taken charge.

The plaintiff made an effort through voluminous records to prove that Abe Gordon, moving spirit in the Gordon Clothing Company and the leader store at Minot, started with a $12,000 stock of goods, that purchases were made during 1921 amounting to $81,000 and that sales amounting to $11,000 only had been received for. Gordon failed late in 1921.

As the plaintiff rested in case attorneys for Sam Gordon and the Gordon brothers, of Valley City, moved for dismissal of the case against these defendants, asserting that there had been no evidence to support the plaintiff's claim that Abe Gordon, the bankrupt, had been interested in the store of his brother at Valley City and declaring that the evidence showed Sam Gordon was at all times the sole owner.

It was further asserted there was no evidence to show that Abe Gordon transferred any goods from Minot to the Valley City store.

Francis Murphy of Minot, attorney for numerous other defendants, most of them relatives of Abe Gordon who are alleged to have benefited by alleged fraudulent transfers of property, moved for dismissal of the case against the other defendants. Judge Miller reserved decision until the end of the case, and defendants' attorneys prepared to go into an extensive presentation of the defense, consuming probably two or three days.

CO. ASSESSOR SYSTEM TO BE URGED AGAIN

One of the things the coming session of the North Dakota legislature will have to consider, if Tax Commissioner C. C. Converse has his way about it is the establishment of a system of county assessors. Mr. Converse favors a change from the present system as a basis of getting a good assessment for all parts of a given county, and of possibly a greater coordination of the assessments of all the counties of the state.

The assessment must be good before any board or set of boards can make a good equalization, declares Mr. Converse.

"If the assessor preforms his work well, then the work of the other officials having to do with taxation is easy," declares the tax commissioner. "If his work be badly done, it becomes practically impossible for any other official or board to correct his mistakes. He, more than any other official, may put the axe into tax or take the axe out of tax. True, boards of review pass upon his work, but they have very little opportunity, comparatively, to make the assessment just and fair.

I do not believe it is possible for any board of review to transform a very bad assessment into a very good one. As for county boards of equalization and the state board of equalization, it is not even in the realm of possibility for them to accomplish such a transformation. The reason for this lies in the limitation upon their power and the nature of the problem which confronts them. The county board is obliged to raise or lower valuations by taxing districts. In raising a given township, their action increases some valuations which are already too high in the effort to raise others which are too low. It is the constant citizen who is thus penalized for his honesty and fairness. Generally the same inequalities exist in the valuations after the board of equalization has performed its work as did when the assessor turned over his books to the board of review. It is to the assessor we must look for a fair assessment; and, without a fair assessment, it is impossible, fairly to apportion the burden of assessment.

EXCISE TAX IS VIOLATION OF CONSTITUTION

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 20.—To permit the spread of the excise or capital stock tax, as the state tax commissioner has interpreted the law to mean, on the basis of proportion of business which each company within the state bears to its total business within and without the state, would be to place a direct tax on the gross earnings derived from carrying on commerce among the states and with foreign nations, the complaint alleges and therefore would be in violation of section 8, article 1 of the constitution of the United States.

Two previous suits involving the collection of this tax have been decided by the supreme court against the state. The accrued amount due the state from the plaintiff railroads under this law since it was enacted is approximately $200,000.

Onions Strong, But Don't Hurt Soil, Expert Says

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 20.—One of the queer things about raising onions is the fact that they may be planted on the same lot of ground year after year and the ground grows better for their culture as time goes on, according to A. F. Yeager, horticulturist at the North Dakota agricultural college. This is due to the fact that onion fields are kept free from weeds and improve in this regard as time goes on and also because the field usually becomes more perfectly levelled off each year under proper onion culture. Ground in which onions are planted is not apt to become disease infected as is ground

PEOPLE OF NORTH DAKOTA AGAIN WARNED TO ORDER LIGNITE—DEALERS PROMISING EASTERN COAL TAKING BIG CHANCES

The people of North Dakota should order their lignite coal now and insist on getting a large part of their winter's supply immediately. As winter approaches it becomes more and more evident that eastern coal will not be available and retail dealers in North Dakota who are assuring customers that they will have all the eastern coal needed, are taking big chances.

Frank Milhollan, president of the North Dakota Board of Railroad Commissioners, insists that North Dakota is going to be without coal unless a supply of lignite is put in now. The railroad commission is the state fuel administrator, hence Mr. Milhollan is in a position to know.

His warning to North Dakota follows in part: "Unless the people of North Dakota awake to the seriousness of the present fuel shortage and lay in a supply, many homes will be without fuel during the coming winter. Reports have been printed in some newspapers to the effect that there would be plenty of coal for distribution in North Dakota. The parties responsible for these statements are not conversant with the situation.

"The representative of the North Dakota railroad commission, who has been stationed at the docks in Minnesota, advises the board that our people absolutely must lay in lignite now or they are going to be left. Many of the Duluth and Superior dock operators are also mine owners and it is stated that they can sell coal to Canada and New England states at a larger profit than they can in the Northwest. Even with the best possible performance from now until closing of navigation, we will be unable to get but a very small proportion of the lake coal we have received in former years."

In his appeal to the people of North Dakota a few days ago, Gov. R. A. Nestos asked the co-operation of the people of the state so that North Dakota lignite mines could work at full capacity during September and October and be in a better position to serve the entire state when the demand becomes greater with the arrival of cold weather.

Governor Nestos and Commissioner Milhollan should know. They are in touch with the situation and their appeals are sent out in the interest of the people of North Dakota. Insist that your local dealer get you a supply of lignite immediately. The risk is too great for you to take a chance.

If you want information on lignite and its use for domestic or industrial purposes, write the Railroad Commission, Bismarck, for the pamphlet recently published.
